

Willoughby carried Willa into the sitting room and switched on the lamp. "What do you see in the corner?" asked Willoughby. "I see my basket full of toys," said Willa. "What do you think they are doing?" asked Willoughby. "I don't know," said Willa. "They are dreaming, dreaming of tomorrow, and the games you are going to play." "That's very happy," said Willa. "What else?"

